INT. LIVING ROOM - NIGHT

ROBIN and JANET return with a bottle of wine and glasses.

ROBIN
--So another fun fact about me: I'm extremely clumsy when I'm nervous. Which is precisely why I brought two bottles with me.

JANET
(joking)
Are you nervous? I couldn't tell.

They sit on the couch.

ROBIN
Haha, very funny. Is this how you pictured our first date going because full disclosure, I didn't and I'm kinda freaking out.
(rambling)
You know, if you want me to, I can leave. Would that be better? I already ruined the rug and--

JANET
Whoa, whoa, whoa. I don't want you to leave. I just want you to relax and enjoy the time we have together, like I am.

ROBIN
I'm sorry. I don't know what's going on with me. You're just so pretty, and I've wanted to ask you out for such a long time, I thought I would be way cooler than this.

JANET
So, what's the problem?

ROBIN
Well, more full disclosure: I've never done anything like this before.

JANET
You've never spilled wine?

It is hard for Robin to answer but after looking into Janet's sweet eyes, she finds the courage.

ROBIN
I've never been with a woman.

Janet's face shows a bit of surprise, which Robin is quick to try to alleviate.

ROBIN (CONT'D)
But I'm feeling all these feelings, and they feel so right, right?
(MORE)

But every time I'm around you I feel like a total dork. And once I start I can't stop and then I'm like--

(to a nervous tune)

--uh oh, here we go, I'm ruining everything!

Janet takes her hand, this calms Robin.

JANET

Well, luckily for you, I really like dorks. Dorks know how to treat a girl.

ROBIN

Good, because I really like you, too. And I'm glad you're my first-- well, not my "first" first but you know what I mean and-- (nervously singing)

--I'm doing it again.

(clears throat)

Wine time? Yeah? Ok, this time you pour it.

The girls laugh together as the night goes on...
